This historic location dates back to April 15, 1907. Old Stewarts Merchandise Shop was the focal point of downtown shopping in Louisville at that time, now on the National Register of Historic Places. The building remains one of the most beautiful preservations in Louisville. You can still see the crown molding, Old Stewarts tile decals, original sky lights, and dramatic pillars. Just across the street you had people such as Al Capone and Gatsby stopping by for the night, what an exciting time.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation has maintained the original integrity of the building. The Embassy is believed to be one of the most unique and astonishing hotel projects in the nation. With no two rooms alike, you have 304 opportunities to be amazed. The Embassy team has eliminated the less desirable quirks of a historic hotel, and updated the elevators, HVAC units, plumbing, and much more. The Embassy Suites Louisville Downtown blends rich history, modern conveniences, and memorable hospitality.
